It is believed by persons who would be most likely to know that the President receives the most cordial support from his cabinet, and that their relations are not strained in any case. Among the politicians who are not pleased with Mr. Cleveland's civil service policy there is some talk about an attempt to break up the present organization of advisers this winter, but the general impression in other political circles is that the cabinet is such as is likely to

"That is absurd," said Mr. Warden. "I saw a great deal of Mr. Johnson, particularly at night, and I was entirely familiar with his habits, both by day and night. I am positive that he never used opium in any form. Had he used it stealthily he could not have concealed the fact from me, for I had had enough experience with the drug, having been a druggist at one time, to detect its effects without any difficulty. This continual interruption annoyed the President, and, bristling up with all his well-known vigor, he cried out: "What are you calling for Grant for? He is not a candidate against me or me against him." This outburst was received by the crowd with a general and prolonged yell, which ended in renewed calls for Grant. This rude treatment of the President was undoubtedly repeated in other places through the state, but I heard of no reply like the above at any other place. It shows that while he may not have complained to Col. Moore he certainly did to the citizens of my town. If any one desires to settle the weighty question as to whether the general was "invited" or "ordered" to accompany the President, he will learn by examining files of any newspaper of that date that his invitation to General Grant was construed by the latter as being in the nature of an order, and he governed himself accordingly. THE BOILING WATER ASSAULT CASE.—Wm Brown, colored, on a charge of assault on Elijah Tolliver, appealed from the Police Court, pleaded guilty in the Criminal Court to-day, and the sentence below—$100 fine or ninety days in jail—was repeated. They had had a quarrel, when Brown threw a can of boiling water on Tolliver, scalding him severely. The court remarked on the cruelty shown by some of the colored people towards each other, and referred to the fact that the severe sentences he had imposed in rasor cases seemed to have had the effect of breaking up the habit of using them for cutting. This was the first case of boiling water assault which had come before him, and he would not have been so much surprised if the other sex was the party. This style of assault was as cruel as that of the rasor, and it was well that the case had not come up here originally, for he would have given a more severe sentence than that in the Police Court. He would, however, repeat the sentence. REV. DR. NEWMAN'S SUCCESSOR.—Rev. W. F. Price, the young minister whom the Madison Avenue Congregational church, in New York city, has called to fill the pastorate made vecant by Dr. Newman's departure, was ordained and installed last evening, after passing through a searching theological cross-questioning at the hands of a congregational council called together for that purpose.

ridges are all connected with one another with wire and a circuit is made. When ready to fire a charge, the men withdraw to a distance of 500 feet and the cartridges are exploded by electricity. Even at a distance of 500 feet the concussion from the explosion is stunning. The men engaged, he said, were experienced miners, accustomed to handle such cartridges. Sometimes they had to open a cartridge when the exploder was defective, and take out the exploder, but they knew how to handle the cartridges so well that no accident had ever occurred. If the exploder were exposed, it would not necessarily be discharged. "This would not necessarily be discharged. "This would not occur one time out of a thousand," said Mr. Woodward, "and this is the thousand the coroner will hold an inquest over the remains of McDonald at 11 o'clock to-morrow.

Tween the parties, I can state positively that Gen. Grant became a warm and zealous advocate of impeachment and continued so until the final vote on the subject. I speak only from memory as to dates, but the substantial facts are correct."

Gov. E. G. Ross, of New Mexico, who was then in the U. S. Senate and voted against the impeachment, in reply to a telegraphic inquiry says: "Gen. Grant was understood to oppose the impeachment of Andrew Johnson until to have favored it during the trial."

Lyman Trumbuli, ex-Senator from Illinois, when approached on the subject last night declined to discuss the matter, and said he knew nothing about Gen. Grant's feelings respecting the impeachment of Johnson except what was the impeachment of Johnson except what was public record. He, however, entirely discredited the interview with Gen. enced such heavy weather on Lake Superior as has prevailed during the last few days. The gale raged with unabated fury for nearly sixty hours attaining a velocity of from forty to sixty miles an hour. Navigation was rendered doubly perilous by the prevalence of furious snow storms. Many vessels had narrow escapes from serious disaster and several are still missing. The steam barge 8. C. Baldwin, of Detroit, has arrived here in search of her consorts, the barges Grace Whitney and Eureka.

During the gale Monday night the barges separated from the Baldwin and have not been heard from since. The captain of the Baldwin head that wears a crown," he continued, "is as true in ecclesiastical as in worldly affairs. I am making these remarks in order to discourage any of you who intend to be bishops."

"You can't do that very easily, bishop," remarked a brother, and the rest of the conference smiled their approval of this assertion of their ambition.

The bishop then went on to say that in this city the brethren thought that their churches were the best, their women the handsomest and their affairs the most important in the conference. Because a bishop did not visit the city frequently the brethren were apt to complain. The bishops, however, visited all the churches as often as their duties would all ow them.

Rev. R. S. Laws, of the Virginia-avenue Buptist church, came into the conference and was introduced. A resolution was offered providing for the at pointment of an agent to travel and solicit funds for Israel church in order to relieve that church from its present financial burdens. Action was deferred until to-morrow morning. THE EXAMINATION OF THE CHARACTER OF was then begun. A report of this kind was interrupted by the pastor with the remark:

"Is he married yet?" "No, sir," said the brother who was making the report; "but I think that he is trying very hard."
"I think that he is in a very bad way then,"

TEMPERANCE WORK IN VIRGINIA. The reports were then continued. "What are you doing in the temperance work?" asked the bishop of a brother who had reported from Halifax county, Va. "Well, we have several temperance societies in the county, and we are doing what we can, was the reply.

"Have you any dry counties in Virginia?"
asked the bishop. "About half the counties in Georgia are dry, and we will make them all so before we get through."

The brother from Virginia admitted that there were no dry counties in Virginia. A CANNIBAL IN THE CONFERENCE. Prof. A. E. Soloder, who was dressed in an Oriental costume, was introduced to the comference and told the members that he was anative of the Fiji Islands and had eaten human flesh many a time.

The bishop asked what was the difference in taste between human flesh and beef.

The professor, with a suggestive movement of the jaws, replied: "Human flesh tastes more like mule—sweet like," and a shudder ran through the members of the conference.

DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THE NORTH AND THE The bishop, in the course of some remarks, said that he had observed in looking over the condition of the church north he found that affairs were greatly different than in the south. There were more divisions in the church, and splits of one kind and another. Perhaps the bishop thought the people in the south did not know enough; he hoped that they never would, but would continue to live loyal to their church. church.

One member volunteered the explanation that in the northern churches the member wanted to be at the head. In the city of F delphia alone there were fourteen separate distinct church organisations among the ored people.

One brother spoke of the worldliness among the church members, where they would take the property of the church to play policy and to gratify their worldly desires. ISRAEL CHURCH Rev. Mr. Williams reported from Israel that the membership now was 300. The Sunday school report showed 225 scholars and 31 offi-ters and teachers. They had raised over $1,000 and paid it on the church.
